Summary of findings

Overall summary

Ashbourne Lodge Care Centre is a care home that provides accommodation and personal care for up to 40 people, some whom may live with dementia. At the time of the inspection there were 29 people living in the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- Systems were in place to help prevent people, staff and visitors from catching or spreading infection. Every staff member and visitor had their temperature taken at the door and were given a mask to wear. Everyone had to use the hand sanitiser and complete a health declaration upon entering the home.
- The environment was clean. Additional cleaning was taking place, including frequently touched surfaces.
- There was sufficient personal protective equipment (PPE) such as masks, aprons, gloves and visors. The registered manager carried out weekly checks to ensure the home always had enough PPE.
- Staff had undertaken training in putting on and taking off PPE and other COVID-19 related training. Infection control champions were in place who assessed the competency of staff in IPC practices.
- Staff supported people's social and emotional wellbeing. Local visiting restrictions were in place, so people were supported to keep in touch with their family members via video or telephone calls and social media messages.
- People and staff were taking part in the coronavirus regular testing programme.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.
