Summary of findings

Overall summary

Ashlea Court is a residential care home providing accommodation and personal care for up to 48 older people and people with dementia. The home is arranged over two floors. At the time of our inspection 33 people lived at the service.

We found the following examples of good practice

- Visitors completed health questionnaires which supported track and trace systems. Visitors temperatures and oxygen levels were also taken prior to entering the home.
- All staff were trained to use equipment which monitored residents' pulse and oxygen levels to determine if they were unwell.
- All vulnerable staff had risk assessments in place and adjustments made as required.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe, and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 16 November and was announced.
