Summary of findings

Overall summary

Derbyshire House Residential Care is a residential care home providing personal care to 26 people aged 65 and over at the time of the inspection. The service can support up to 31 people.

We found the following examples of good practice.

Derbyshire House Residential Care ensured current government guidelines in relation to COVID-19 were being followed by staff and visitors to reduce the risk of infection to people living at the home. This included comprehensive checks for visitors and staff on arrival to the home and including COVID-19 testing and ensuring vaccination status.

Derbyshire House Residential Care supported people who lived there to remain connected with friends and relatives through visits, video calls, phone calls and letters. They encouraged families and friends to take people out of the home following risk assessment and with appropriate testing before and after the trips out of the home. They had used technology to support people to attend community event and stay connected to their local area.

Derbyshire House Residential Care had put infection control measures in place while also carefully considering the effects on the mental health of people living in the home. This included the use of clear screens where appropriate to reduce feelings of loneliness when isolating.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 19 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours' notice of the inspection.
