Summary of findings

Overall summary

Wyncroft House is a care home registered to provide personal and nursing care for up to 38 people living in a converted building. The home accommodates people living with a range of complex health care needs. At the time of our inspection there was 36 people living at the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The service was clean and effective systems were in place.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) stations where staff could sanitise their hands, don and doff the appropriate PPE were placed throughout the building in key areas. Staff wore gloves, masks, aprons and visors when supporting people who had tested positive for COVID-19 and were isolating.

Staff received additional Infection control training and PPE training remotely. The training materials were also sent to each staff member for reference should they need it.

There was a clear process in place to monitor vaccination status and testing for staff and people at the service.

The provider responded swiftly when people tested positive for COVID-19 and supported them to isolate immediately and ensure all areas of the home were sanitised and disinfected through a deep clean.

People were supported to maintain contact with families through visits. Staff supported people to make phone and video calls to maintain contact with family and friends between visits and when people were isolating after testing positive for COVID-19.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 03 February 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours' notice of the inspection.
