Summary of findings

Overall summary

Anley Hall Nursing Home is a residential care home providing personal and nursing care to up to 54 people. At the time of our inspection there were 50 people using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The premises was clean, tidy and free from mal-odour. People told us the décor and standard of cleaning was always to a high standard.

Visitors were checked for symptoms of COVID-19. All staff were observed to wear the correct personal protective equipment (PPE). Staff had a good knowledge of risks and procedures to minimise the risk of infection transmission.

The registered manager was proactive to maintain policies and procedures to ensure staff followed government guidelines.

There were lots of places staff could change their PPE and wash their hands. Staff worked in groups and did not move between different areas of the home. This minimised the risk of infection transmission.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 2 February 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours' notice of the inspection.
